“In 1925, Pete and Lucille Kuyper from the small Dutch community of Pella, Iowa, invested in a newfangled invention — a window screen that rolled up and down like a shade. The couple went on to found a company based on the principles of traditional American values, integrity and the desire to enrich the homes and lives of others.

From its founding, Pella has always been about bringing you innovative windows and doors that do more than frame the landscape — they make life easier with meaningful details that matter every day.”

Cardinal Glass Industries manufactures glass for Pella and other companies. We will enjoy a plant tour that promises to be pretty impressive. Learn more about Cardinal at www.cardinalcorp.com.
